Like many bowling clubs around the country the Rocky Bowls club has competitions and tournaments. The rules surrounding the draws for these are quite complex and involve players handicap, the players team position, whether the member is promoted or demoted from their normal position, the type of competition, the number of "rinks", the number of allowed plays on individual rinks, the number of teams in the competition and the number of rounds in the competition. Not surprisingly only a few people at the club are able to cope with the complexity of making-up the draws for club competitions and tournaments. The new software will fully automate this complex function. In addition it will keep track the club membership and produce appropriate records for the Auckland Bowls (Central) with which they are affiliated. Finally the project includes a basic Web presence for the club and recommendations for purchase of new hardware and software to support the application.

The application will be written in Visual Basic with an Access database.
